

KILLED IN A FIGHT.

Police Think One of the Schaefer Boys Murdered "Kid" Hogan.

There Had Long Been Bad Blood Between the Fighters.

Hogan Aided Korr in Last Night's Fracas with the Brothers.

Edward H. Hogan, nineteen years old, of 235 East Twenty-ninth street, was killed just before midnight last night in a general fight between four men. The other three men are under arrest. One of them, Edward Korr, nineteen years old, of 65 East Fourteenth street, has an ugly cut in his left side. All of the prisoners do not know the cutting and tell a different story.

Policeman David Porter, of the Fifth street station, at 11:40 last night noticed Korr staggering along Fourteenth street near First avenue. Some one had told the policeman there had been a fight, so he ordered Korr to stop. Korr tried to run, but Porter soon caught him. His clothes were covered with blood, and he seemed to be badly cut.

The policeman decided to take him to the East Twenty-second street station, as that was nearer than his own at Fifth street. At the former station an officer suggested to the Bellevue Hospital dressed the wound.

He said that the man had been stabbed in the left arm with a jack-knife, and the knife had been pulled out after it entered the body. One of the man's kidneys had been penetrated. The wound was not considered serious.

Korr was sent to the East Fifth street station, where he told that he had been engaged in a fight with two brothers named Schaefer of 65 East Twenty-ninth street, Edward and Charles Schaefer, sons of Edward H. Hogan, who is also known as "Kid."

In the mean time "Kid" Hogan had been found lying in Fourteenth street, about half way between First and Second avenues. By Policeman McCarthy, of the East Fifth street station. He had a deep cut in his neck and was unconscious. An ambulance was sent from Bellevue Hospital and he was removed there. He died fifteen minutes after reaching the hospital. The only other victim was a policeman.

The Schaefer boys were arrested at 12:30 o'clock by Policemen McCarthy and Murphy, of the Twenty-second street station. They were brought to the East Fifth street station, where they told that they had been engaged in a fight with two brothers named Farrell of 65 East Twenty-ninth street, Edward and Charles Schaefer.

When Korr heard that the Schaefers had been arrested he went to the station house and called up the stairs:

"Sas, Schaefer, if you want to scrap, come down."

They had been trouble between the Schaefers and Korr before; S. Charley came downstairs and was soon followed by August. The three men engaged in a rough and tumble fight, when "Kid" Hogan came along. They separated when they heard a cry of "Police!"

When Korr heard that the Schaefers had been arrested he went to the station house and called up the stairs:

"CAUGHT IN A STABLE."

Three Boys Arrested on the Charge of Burglary.

John Nugent, fourteen years old, of 29 Greenfield street; Matthew Silk, twelve years old, of 92 Vandam street, and Patrick McDermott, fourteen years old, of 49 Thirteenth avenue, were turned over to the care of Agent Mulligan of the Gerry Society, who will investigate the details of their arraignment in Jefferson Market on Friday morning.

Matthew was born in Ireland, and his brother August is twenty-three years old, and was employed as a laborer for the Department of Public Parks. They live with a widowed mother and elder brother.

Their version of the fight is that Korr ran out on the highway of their house and called up the stairs:

"Sas, Schaefer, if you want to scrap, come down."
